

Marriage Doesn't Work

(And my wife agrees!)

If you've embraced technology, you've undoubtedly found the coolest thing ever only to have the rug pulled out from under you when the app or web site goes out of business, or moves to a pay model. It's tragic, and unavoidable.

It's great to fall in love with a specific app or piece of technology -- just know that it might not be around tomorrow!

Only a fortunate few make it for the long haul.

AOL. MySpace. ICQ. BlackBerry.

They're all still around, but mere shells of their former selves. Be flexible, be adaptable, be patient. Nothing is perfect, and technology is an easy target when it fails. And the best technology doesn't always win out.

Never mind the Alamo, remember the Betamax!

When it comes to technology...

Dating makes more sense than marriage!
